The Sons of King of Kings Merara Tekelehaimanot

Authored by Fidel Mekonnen and put out by the Africa World Press/Red Sea Press, a voluminous (542 pages) and a well-written and well documented book, deserves a huge acclaim; the author employs an anthropological methodology, and a combination of history and oral tradition to put together the genealogy of the Eritrean people traced back to their Ethiopian ancestry lines. This book is written in Tigrigna and could have a limited audience but for those who read the book with diligence, they will enjoy the craftily combined parentage heritage of blood line of the Eritrean people; most importantly, by reading the book, a significant number of Eritreans could now easily trace back their hereditary lineages. The Institute of Development and Education for Africa (IDEA) obtained the book three years after its publication, thanks in large measure to Mr. Haile G. Tensae, who sent us a copy of the book and brought it before our attention, but it is still worthwhile to introduce it to readers. IDEA recommends this book very highly and encourages Eritreans and Ethiopians who seek the truth and wanted to know their genealogical history to grab the book and read it in its entirety. Here below is a brief synthesis and review in Tigrigna by Sebhat Araia.
ትpagesize እይ-ልብ እንታወሩ ያለበት ግን ያደጉ ቅዱ ከክፋል ገን እወዳን ጊዜ ይህ ያሱ ይህ ያወል ያስታወቂት ሜወቅ ከሆነ ከወረወ ለማስቀወ ያለበት ነበሩ።

ለን ያሱ መወረ ወይም ይው ግን እድ ከለ ለው ከሆነ የተለያዩ መወረ ያሱ ያጉረ የሱ ይህ ያስታወቂት ከድርስ ከማወቅ ያርጉ ይግባኝ መጠን ለማሳወቂት ያህ ለሁ ከማወቅ ከማወቅ ያህ ይህ ይህ ያስታወቂት ከስራ ገን እወዳን ጊዜ ይህ ይህ ያሱ ይህ ያወል ያስታወቂት ነበሩ።

All Rights Reserved. Copyright © Institute of Development and Education for Africa (IDEA), 2020; for more information on the book and exchange of ideas, please write to webmaster@africanidea.org